Blessings friends!

What an amazing month we had in October!

Now, however, we are in November. Though we should be all the time, this is the month when we focus on gratitude. Let's let gratitude and thanksgiving be our focus this month. There's so much to be thankful for! I was taught a lesson in gratitude by a homeless man in downtown Indianapolis. We were handing food, toiletries, blankets, socks and winter gear to some homeless men and women, and one man was incredibly grateful. He explained what would make our donations more helpful like softer foods, for example. Dental care isn't exactly accessible for our homeless population. This man who had no home and didn't know where his next meal was coming from then asked if he could pray with us and for us. It was humbling. Are there ways you have been humbled?

It's hard to believe that we have less than a month before the Advent season. Let your heart find peace and calm before the rush and chaos of Christmas. Enjoy this month of togetherness, food, and friendship. Be thankful for the many gifts you do have and praise God for His amazing creation and its bounty.

Love you all 😊

Rev. Charissa
