Happy New Year!!

I don't know about you but, I kinda hate making New Year's resolutions. The only thing that they succeed in doing is discouraging me in February. Ha!

I'd like to share what I do instead, just in case some of you share a similar experience as myself. It's actually quite simple. I write myself a letter. I tell myself the things that I'd like to accomplish but most importantly, I tell myself why I want to accomplish that goal. It's been my experience that the "why" doesn't change that much but "how" you get there might change quite a bit. :). You can keep the letter to look back over throughout the year, or you can put it in a safe place to read on the next new year. It's a physical representation of things you've accomplished, even if it didn't happen the way you intended.

Regardless of how you ring in the new year, I pray for the blessings of God to touch every one of your lives. Have a good January!!!

Love you all!

They will accept non-perishable items like peanut butter, crackers, laundry detergent and paper products.
